

Studentische Hilfskraft (HIWI) 20 hours per week, Bavarian Water Administration Processes Description, literature review, German language skills required

02.06.2017, Studentische Hilfskräfte, Praktikantenstellen, Studienarbeiten

To support the SINOWATER Project, the Chair of Hydrology and River Basin Management looks for a student assistant (HIWI) as soon as possible for 20 hours a week.

Requirement:

- Very good German language skills, ideally with mother tongue
- Very good English reading and written skills
- Students with background of environmental related studies, ideally about water resource management
- Independent work, flexibility, reliability, commitment
- Immatriculated student at a university in Munich and the surrounding area

Tasks:

- Literature review of Bavarian Water Resource Administration processes, for example wastewater discharge permit, monitoring of sewage treatment plants and accident management with emission of water hazardous substances etc.
- Detailed description of the processes flow in English and corresponding flow charts establishment.

Please send me your written application documents by e-mail to Mr. Ke Chen, ke.chen@tum.de

Contact:

Ke Chen, M.Sc.

Chair of Hydrology and River Basin Management

Technische Universität München

Arcisstrasse 21

80333 München, Germany

Tel: +49 (89) 289 - 23229

Email: ke.chen@tum.de

<http://www.hydrologie.bgu.tum.de/index.php?id=5&L=1>